

Treetops of the Garden State

Yvonne Bordowitz

A recurring sound I have yet to put a name to- I'll call it a Blast- can be heard in Ridgewood, New Jersey, off of Route 17. It sounds vaguely like the halfway point between a foghorn and a human voice counting.